

From the text of

500 DAYS

Transition to the Market

This program could happen only in the era of perestroika which began in 1985. It is a natural outgrowth of that policy. M.S. Gorbachev and B.N. Yeltsin initiated the program and it can be realized only if they unite their efforts in its support....Our society has developed an extreme experience of economic reforms, which people have come to associate only with changes for the worse in their lives. Life, unfortunately, has taught them to believe more easily in bad than in good things. The realization of the suggested program is expected to combat this sentiment.

Its basic difference from all previous attempts lies in the fact that it relies upon a fundamentally new concept. It plans to move toward a market-oriented economy at the expense of the state, but not at the expense of the people.

ISBN 0-312-07396-8

500 DAYS

TRANSITION TO THE MARKET

G. Yavlinsky, B. Fedorov,
S. Shatalin

St. Martin's
Press

The Historic Blueprint for Change in the Soviet Union

500 DAYS

Transition to the Market

G. YAVLINSKY, B. FEDOROV, S. SHATALIN,
N. PETRAKOV, S. ALEKSASHENKO, A. VAVILOV,
L. GRIGORIEV, M. ZADORNOV, V. MACHITS,
A. MIKHAILOV, E. YASIN

English translation edited by David Kushner

In the Soviet Union today, radical change is occurring in every phase of government and social life. No change is greater, though, than the proposal to convert from a centrally planned, socialist economy to one based on a free market system (originally slated for completion within "500 days").

500 Days is the original document, written by a Working Group jointly appointed by Mikhail Gorbachev and Boris Yeltsin, that outlines this historic transition. It examines every aspect of the Soviet economy, directly engaging the most fundamental problems and providing a radical solution. It is a document of immense historical importance that will remain the standard against which Gorbachev's program of perestroika will be judged.

History has afforded us few opportunities to observe the processes of change in such startling detail. 500 Days can be compared with The Federalist Papers in its potential impact on the Soviet Union. It is a book that all political scientists, economists and students of society will read and study for years to come.

For a note on the authors, please see the back flap.

500 DAYS

(TRANSITION TO THE MARKET)

G. Yavlinsky, B. Fedorov, S. Shatalin,
N. Petrakov, S. Aleksashenko, A. Vavilov,
L. Grigoriev, M. Zadornov, V. Machits,
A. Mikhailov, E. Yasin

A Working Group formed by a joint decision of M. S. Gorbachev and B. N. Yeltsin

The Concept and Program of 500 DAYS (Transition to the Market) were drawn up between August 2 and 31 by a working group composed of the following:

*S. Shatalin
N. Petrakov
G. Yavlinsky
S. Aleksashenko
A. Vavilov
L. Grigoriev
M. Zadornov
V. Machits
A. Mikhailov
B. Fedorov
E. Yasin*

Also taking part in the group's deliberations were V. Martynov and T. Yarygina.

500 DAYS

(TRANSITION TO THE MARKET)

G. Yavlinsky, B. Fedorov, S. Shatalin,
N. Petrakov, S. Aleksashenko, A. Vavilov,
L. Grigoriev, M. Zadornov, V. Machits,
A. Mikhailov, E. Yasin

English translation edited by David Kushner

St. Martin's Press
New York

Transition to the Market: the Concept and Program was first printed in Russian on September 5, 1990. The Cultural Initiative and the Soros Foundation—Soviet Union have provided this translation to the authors as a courtesy.

The English translation was edited by David S. Kushner.

English translation © St. Martin's Press, 1991

All rights reserved. For information, write:
Scholarly and Reference Division,
St. Martin's Press, Inc., 175 Fifth Avenue, New York, NY 10010

First Published in the United States of America in 1991

Printed in the United States of America

ISBN 0-312-07396-8

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data

500 days : transition to the market / G. Yavlinski . . . [et al.] :

English translation edited by David Kushner.

p. cm.

Translated from Russian.

Includes index.

ISBN 0-312-07396-8

1. Soviet Union—Economic policy—1986— 2. Perestroika.

I. Yavlinsky, G. (Grigori) II. Kushner, David S. III. Title: Five hundred days.

HC336.26.A17 1991

338.947'009'049—dc20

91-31134

CIP

CONTENTS

Man, Freedom, and Market

On the program developed by the task force headed by Academician S. S. Shatalin xi

PART I

The concept of the program for transition to a market economy as the foundation for an Economic Union of sovereign republics

1. The Socioeconomic Situation	3
Crisis of the System	3
Economic Policy in 1985-1990	4
The Alternatives	9
2. The Goals of Reform and the Principles of the New Economic System	13
3. The Economic Union of Sovereign Republics	17
4. The Logic and Stages of the Transition to a Market Economy	27
The General Concept	27
The First 100 Days: A Program of Extraordinary Measures	31
The 100th to 250th Days: Liberalization of Prices with Austere Financial Constraints	38
The 250th to 400th Days: Market Stabilization	41
The 400th to 500th Days: Beginning of the Upswing	44
5. Mechanisms for Maintaining Stability in Production During the Transition Period	47
Immediate Measures	47
State Orders and Prices	48
The State Contract System	49
The Consumer Market	50
The Stabilization Funds	52
Accelerated Development of a Market Infrastructure	53
Notes for Part I	54

PART II
The Basic Blocks of the Transition Program

1. Denationalization and the Development of Competition . . .	57
Support of Entrepreneurship	57
Denationalization	59
Financial Aspects of Denationalization	65
Overcoming Monopolism	66
2. Finance and Credit Policies	71
The Banking System	71
Monetary and Credit Policies	73
The State Budget	75
Taxation	77
Government Debt	78
The Financial Market	80
3. Pricing Policies	81
4. Living Standards, Social Guarantees, Wages and Salaries	87
5. The Labor Market	101
6. Enterprise Under Market Conditions	109
7. Opening the Economy and Foreign Economic Policy . . .	113
Basic Assumptions	113
The Exchange Rate, the Currency Market, and Convertibility of the Ruble	116
The Involvement of Foreign Capital and Foreign Debt	118
Foreign Economic Activity	122
8. The Shadow Economy	125
The Structure of the Shadow Economy	126
Notes for Part II	130

PART III
Structural Policy and Conversion

1. Structural Reorganization in the Sphere of Investment . . .	133
2. Conversion	141
Forms of Conversion for Defense Enterprises	142
What Is Needed to Realize the Scientific and Technological Potential of the Defense Complex	143
Organizational and Legal Support for Conversion	147
3. The Construction Industry's Transition to Market Relations	149
4. Development of the Industrial Infrastructure	157
5. Land Reform and Agrarian Policy	161
Formation of Market Relations in the Agroindustrial Complex	162
The Mechanism and Extent of Subsidizing Agricultural Production	163
Principles Underlying the Formation and Sizes of the All-Union and Republican Inventories of Agricultural Produce	164
A System of Measures to Stabilize the Food Market . . .	165
Land Reform	166
A New Mechanism for the Program of Social and Economic Assistance to the Countryside	170
6. Housing Reform	173
7. The Nonmarket Sector	179

PART IV
Legislative and Organizational Support for Economic Reform

Organizational Support for Economic Reform	194
Reorganization of Management Structures	195
Information Support	196
Personnel Support	198

PART V Supplement

On the Information Not Received by the Working Group from the Ministries and Departments	203
The Consumer Market	207
Procedure for Computing the Minimum Consumer Budget for a Man of Employable Age . . .	210
Estimation of Possible Scale of Privatization	221
Estimation of Possible Volumes of Privatization in Trade	222
Principles for Balancing the Union Budget in Fourth Quarter of 1990	223
Calculations for Forecasting	224
Index	232

MAN, FREEDOM, AND MARKET

ABOUT THE AUTHORS

GRIGORY YAVLINSKY is the former First Deputy Prime Minister of the Russian Republic who resigned his post when the Soviet Parliament rejected the 500 Days Program. He is presently head of the Center for Economic and Political Studies (the "Epicenter"). In August 1991 he was appointed by Mikhail Gorbachev to the committee to reorganize the economy of the Soviet Union.

BORIS FEDOROV is the former Minister of Finance of the Russian Republic and is currently the Head of Soviet Affairs Commercial Banking, European Bank for Reconstruction and Development.

Academician S. SHATALIN is a former member of Gorbachev's Presidential Cabinet, and is now a leader of the Democratic opposition.

St. Martin's Press
175 Fifth Avenue
New York, N.Y. 10010

Printed in the U.S.A.

Jacket design by Acme Art Inc.